The Eulogius Corpus

Translated with introduction and commentary by Kenneth Baxter Wolf

The first English translation of the complete writings of Eulogius (d. 859), a priest living under Islamic rule in Córdoba, Spain.

Eulogius (d. 859), a priest living under Islamic rule in Córdoba, is our principal source for the “Córdoban martyrs’ movement (850-859), in the course of which forty-eight Christians were decapitated for religious offenses against Islam. Eulogius’ writings capture his effort to promote the executed Christians as legitimate martyrs. This is the first English translation of his writings.

AUTHOR

KEY FEATURES
• A fascinating window into the life of an early medieval Christian community living under Muslim rule
• Eulogius’ writings contain some of the very earliest Latin Christian views of Islam and allow for an unusually close look at the construction of Christian sanctity

AUGUST 2019
440 pages
210 × 147 mm

SERIES
Translated Texts for Historians, 71

HARDBACK
ISBN 9781789620795
£120 / $175

PAPERBACK
ISBN 9781789621211
£35 / $60

Order books online at www.liverpooluniversitypress.co.uk or contact janet.mcdermott@liverpool.ac.uk 0151 795 2149

UK & Rest of World www.liverpooluniversitypress.co.uk 30% discount with code LUP30
US & The Americas www.global.oup.com/academic 30% discount with code ADISTA5

@LivUniPress /liverpooluniversitypress @LivUniPress